

Moving to the Cloud

As part of the “Software as a Service” (SaaS) movement, more and more key applications are moving online. Google Apps is forefront in the movement to make innovative people-centred software part of the Enterprise, but any transition takes time.

Your employees will have existing desktop applications they’re familiar with and a history of word processor or spreadsheet files that must be emailed to colleagues or customers. So whilst life has become easier for IT staff, for end-users it can be more difficult in the short to medium-term due to a lack of integration between the “old world” of desktop applications and the new online frontier.

Affixa makes end-users more productive and eases the introduction of SaaS into the Enterprise.

Email from your Existing Enterprise Application Suite

You have existing investment in desktop application software which your end-users are already comfortable with. Affixa integrates this software with your Google Apps system. Here are just a few of the common Enterprise applications that work with Affixa:

Office Applications

- Microsoft Office
- OpenOffice

Accounting & Invoicing

- Sage
- Quickbooks

Customer Relationship Management

- Siebel CRM

Business Intelligence

- Business Objects Universe
- Crystal Reports

Enterprise Resource Planning

- JD Edwards
- SAP

Specialist

- AutoCAD

Easy to deploy

Works in your environment:

- Can be deployed using Active Directory Group Policy, Systems Management Server or scripting
- Can be used in Windows Terminal Services or Citrix MetaFrame environments

Centralised configuration:

- Enterprise-wide settings can be enforced using Group Policy or machine-level settings
- Customise the User Interface to use terminology your staff understand (e.g. "Bloggs Inc. Webmail" instead of "Google Apps")

User-level configuration:

- Optionally allow users to choose the productivity settings they work with best: e.g. whether or not to automatically open Google Apps Mail after attaching a file.

Support:

- Priority support on hand to assist in resolving any deployment issues

Easy to evaluate

Affixa is a killer app: it does something very small but unique that has a huge productivity impact. Because it's so simple, it doesn't take long to evaluate.

No other software provides the capability to integrate Google Apps Mail with Windows and desktop applications.

Should you have any pre-sales enquiries, free support is available to answer your questions.

Easy to purchase

Affixa doesn't require a complex buying decision.

Our Online Costing System gives instant quotes with no salesmen involved. You can buy licences for your entire enterprise within minutes.

To buy, visit:

www.affixa.com/Buy.aspx

If you have any queries, just get in touch:

www.affixa.com/Contact.aspx